Yeah, I just logged on and saw that but then Kent decided to just end the call and he will touch base with the attendees individually and encourage them to join the other meeting(s).

Every time that we've done this in the past, when you log onto the computer version (and see the powerpoint), it gives you a 4-digit audio PIN along with the phone number and access code. You need all three pieces of information to call in via conference call.

There's no pin...you just need the access code.
I wonder what's going on???

Nope. Same thing.

What is the four digit audio PIN?
